FORMAT Summary

Operation, competition format Two teams of 10, consisting of 5 women and 5 men, will receive military training, drill and tactical training from their commanders in two separate camp areas. They will try to join the SST (Selected Warrior Team) by passing psychological tests with 1 meal a day in cruel natural conditions. The team that wins the Supply/Equipment award will have 2 meals and one person from the team that lost the Mission game will be eliminated. These games will be played with Airsoft guns and rifles, which are called toys that look exactly like real guns. The toys are played with bead bullets called bb (bibi), which can easily decompose in nature and does not have any harm to the nature. Weapons work with electricity and gas. Certain safety rules, including Airsoft goggles and face protection accessories.

IF YOU DON'T HAVE WARRIOR SOUL HERE IS NOT YOUR PLACE!

LEADERSHIP GAME

Teams will play a leadership game within themselves. The games will change every week and there will be military games. the leader of the two teams will play the leadership game and the winner will decide which way to start the attack/defense or where will be their starting position on that weeks game.

SUPPLY EQUIPMENT GAME

Supply bags and equipment-ammunition boxes are left on the playground at least 50 meters apart. There are 2 options when two teams enter the field from equal distances. Option 1 is to reach the bag or the safe before the players are marked (without being hit) and reach the team's safe zone. Option 2 is to knocking the opposing team completely out of the game by marking (shooting). The team that gets the supply bag will spend the week with 2 meals a day. The team that reaches the equipment safe will have an important advantage in mission games by obtaining extra BB, weapons, accessories, etc. rewards. The contestant who finds the bag and the safe wins extra prizes.

MISSION AND PROTECTION GAME

Every week, the missions from the sst commanders will be reported to the commanders with different venues and games. Teams will determine their strategies and try to win games such as headquarters raids, bomb defusing, hostage rescue, rocket interception, and access to important information. The losing team plays the protection game, the name of the winning competitor cannot be written in the voting, some money is loaded into the safe of the winning team.

A woman wearing a tan tactical helmet with a night vision device, safety glasses, and a black vest is aiming a black rifle. She is positioned behind a concrete wall in an outdoor setting. The background shows a building with windows and some foliage.

CHAPTER Contents

In the leadership games, we will recognize the character traits of the competitors and follow their changes, we will see their struggle to be the leader and their power struggles and performances.

When we come to the subject of Supply – Equipment. Different things await us. We will follow the strategies of the teams, what is important to them is supplies or equipment? Lots of action, lots of adventure, and we'll watch what they can afford to win.

A real psychological warfare! We make computer games a reality. We bring the digital world and the real world together. When we come to the convention (elimination), we have a very different story from the first two stages. Intrigue, gossip, changing power balances, character conflicts, efforts to bring oneself to the fore, groupings, disintegration, chaos, backstage behind each other, farewell of the eliminated contestant, sadness, happiness, unfinished dreams and stories.
